Liability to pay in certain cases

Statutory Provision:

85. Liability in case of Transfer of Business

- (1) Where a taxable person, liable to pay tax under this Act, transfers his business in whole or in part, by sale, gift, lease, leave and license, hire or in any other manner whatsoever, the taxable person and the person to whom the business is so transferred shall, jointly and severally, be liable wholly or, , to the extent of such transfer, to pay the tax, interest or any penalty due from the taxable person up to the time of such transfer, whether such tax, interest or penalty has been determined before such transfer, but has remained unpaid or is determined thereafter.
- (2) Where the transferee of a business referred to in subsection (1) carries on such business either in his own name or in some other name, he shall be liable to pay tax on the supply of goods or services or both effected by him with effect from the date of such transfer and shall, if he is a registered person under this Act,, apply within the prescribed time for amendment of his certificate of registration.

85.1 Introduction

This section deals with tax liability that may arise in case of transfer of business. It deals with the following situations:

- Liability arising before the transfer of business as a whole or in part; and
- Liability arising post transfer of business as a whole or in part.
- Such liability may arise on account of sale, gift, lease, leave and license, hire or in any other manner.

85.2 Analysis

(i) Liability arising prior to transfer:

- The provision applies when a taxable person who is liable to pay tax transfer his business either wholly or in part, which could be by way of:
 - Sale
 - Gift
 - Lease
 - Leave and license
 - Hire or
 - In any other manner

Tax liability: Both transferor and transferee will be jointly and severally liable for payment of taxes, interest and / penalty due upto the time of transfer of business (wholly or partly).

The joint and several liability will remain even if such amounts were determined and due before the transfer of business.

Interestingly even penal liability, which is quasi-criminal in nature, is sought to be fastened on the transferee, although he would not have been responsible for the non-payment of tax liability by the transferor prior to transfer of business

(ii) Liability arising post transfer

The tax, interest and / or penalty which is determined and which relates to the period, post transfer of business will clearly be the liability of the transferee of business.

It will remain the liability of the transferee whether or not the business is continued in the same name or otherwise.

As a process, in case the transferee is already an existing taxable person, he needs to apply for amendment of his registration certificate within the prescribed time incorporating the changes as to the acquisition of the business (whole or part).

85.3 Comparative analysis with the present regime

The liability in respect of transactions, post the date of transfer of business, viz., where the liability is fastened on the transferee is comparable to the current indirect tax provisions. However, in respect of joint and several liability of both, the transferor and transferee, for liabilities upto the date of transfer is comparable to certain State level VAT laws.

Statutory Provision

86. Liability of Agent and Principal

Where an agent supplies or receives any taxable goods on behalf of his principal, such agent and his principal shall , jointly and severally, be liable to pay the tax payable on such goods under this Act.

86.1 Introduction

This section casts the liability on a principal, in addition to the liability of agent who effects the supply of taxable goods on behalf of principal or procures taxable goods on behalf of his principal.

86.2 Analysis

Under the GST law, in cases where –

- Taxable Goods are supplied by agent on behalf of principal; or
- Taxable Goods are procured by agent on behalf of principal;

the agent is primarily liable for tax. However, by virtue of this provision, both agent and principal, will be jointly and severally made liable for tax payable on such supplies.

86.3 FAQs

Ans. Yes, the principal will also be jointly and severally liable to pay tax on such supplies, along with the agent.

86.4 MCQ:

 - (d) None of the above

Statutory Provision:87. Liability in case of Amalgamation or Merger of companies

- (1) When two or more companies are amalgamated or merged in pursuance of an order of court or of Tribunal or otherwise and the order is to take effect from a date earlier to the date of the order and any two or more of such companies have supplied or received any goods or services or both to or from each other during the period commencing on the date from which the order takes effect till the date of the order, then such transactions of supply and receipt shall be included in the turnover of supply or receipt of the respective companies and they shall be liable to tax accordingly.
- (2) Notwithstanding anything contained in the said order, for all purposes of this Act, the said two or more companies shall be treated as distinct companies for the period up to the date of the said order and the registration certificates of the said companies shall be cancelled, with effect from the date of the said order.

87.1 Introduction

This section deals with tax liability on transactions between the effective date and date of order (Tribunal/Court) in case of amalgamation or merger of companies.

87.2 Analysis

- (i) In cases of amalgamation or merger of two or more companies by virtue of an order passed by Tribunal/Court/otherwise., the following two crucial dates are relevant, -
 - Date from which the amalgamation/merger is effective;
 - Date of the order pursuant to which the amalgamation/merger takes place;
- (ii) Normally, by virtue of the said order the transactions of supply of goods and/or services inter-se the companies merged/amalgamated between two dates would get nullified as they would become one entity from the effective date (and not from the date of the order).
- (iii) However, for the purposes of GST, by virtue of this provision, such transactions would continue to be treated as one of supply by one entity and receipt by the other, viz., all provisions of this law would equally apply as if the amalgamation or merger had not taken place and both the entities continue as two different taxable persons. Till the date of order of amalgamation / merger, those companies shall be treated as distinct companies and should discharge their respective tax liabilities.
- (iv) Thus, this provision would eclipse the order of the Court/Tribunal and its legal effect for the limited purposes of GST law.
- (v) It provides that wherever necessary, the registration certificates of the said companies would stand cancelled with effect from the date of the said order.

87.3 Comparative analysis with the present regime

This is comparable to most of the State level VAT laws, wherein the sale of goods between such entities (between the effective date of merger / amalgamation and the date of the order) will be treated as sale by one entity and purchase by the other. Such transactions will continue to be liable to tax as if the merger or amalgamation had not taken place and both the entities continue as two different entities.

87.4 MCQ:

- Q1. When two or more companies are amalgamated, the liability to pay tax on supplies between the effective date of amalgamation order and date of amalgamation order would be on -
- (a) Transferee;
 - (b) Respective companies;

- (c) Any one of the companies;
- (d) None of the above.

Ans: (d) Respective Companies.

Statutory Provision:

- (3) When any private company is wound up and any tax, interest or penalty determined under this Act on the company for any period, whether before or in the course of or after its liquidation, cannot be recovered, then every person who was a director of such company at any time during the period for which the tax was due shall, jointly and severally, be liable for the payment of such tax, interest or penalty, unless he proves to the satisfaction of the Commissioner that such non-recovery cannot be attributed to any gross neglect, misfeasance or breach of duty on his part in relation to the affairs of the company.

88.1 Introduction

This section deals with the tax and other dues of a company in case it is wound up or liquidated.

88.2 Analysis

- (i) Every person appointed as receiver / liquidator needs to give intimation of his appointment to the Commissioner within 30 days of his appointment.
- (ii) Within 3 months from the date of such intimation, the Commissioner will notify the liquidator to set apart a sum of money that would be sufficient to discharge, in his opinion, the amount of tax, interest and penalty payable by the company after making necessary enquiry or calling of information.
- (iii) When a private company is not able to clear its dues, then every person who was the Director at any time during the period, for which tax is due, would be liable jointly and severally to pay the dues.
- (iv) However, if any Director proves to the satisfaction of the Commissioner that such non-recovery is not due to his gross neglect, misfeasance or breach of duty, the liability would not arise in the hands of such Director.

 - (b) Auditor refuses to pay

- (2) Where a private company is converted into a public company and the tax, interest or penalty in respect of any supply of goods or services or both for any period during which such company was a private company cannot be recovered before such conversion, then, nothing contained in sub-section (1) shall apply to any person who was a director of such private company in relation to any tax, interest or penalty in respect of such supply of goods or services or both of such private company.

Provided that nothing contained in this sub-section shall apply to any personal penalty imposed on such director.

89.1 Introduction

This section deals with recovery of tax dues interest or penalty from the Directors of a private company, where the private company has not discharged its tax, penalty or interest liability towards the supply of goods or services.

89.2 Analysis

- (i) If the tax interest or penalty were not paid by a private company in relation to any supply of goods or services for any period, then every Director of such private company during such period will be liable to pay such dues. The liability of the Director will be relaxed only when, he proves that such non-recovery of dues is not because of his gross negligence, misfeasance or breach of duty in relation to affairs of company.
- (ii) This will apply even if that entity is no longer a private limited company (viz., if it was a private limited company during the period to which the tax interest or penalty relate to, but is no longer a private limited company (as on the date on which it is to be recovered)); every director of such company during such period (when the company was a "Private Company") will be liable to pay such dues as explained above.
