Q34. Who will notify the Common portal?

Ans. The Government may, on the recommendations of the Council, notify the Common Goods and Services Tax Electronic Portal. The portal so notified is called as GST portal.

Deemed Exports (Section No 147)

Q35. What is the objective of treating certain supplies as deemed exports?

Ans. The objective is to provide a level playing field to domestic manufacturers in certain specified areas, as may be decided by the government from time to time.

Q36. What is the meaning of Deemed Exports?

Ans. S. 2(39) of CGST law defines deemed exports as such supplies of goods as may be notified by S.147.

Q37. Whether supply of services are covered under the ambit of deemed exports?

Ans. S.147 is the provision relating to deemed supplies. As per S.147, provision of deemed supplies apply only to goods and not to services.

Q38. Whether all goods are covered under the scope and ambit of deemed export?

Ans. As per S.147, the provision of deemed export applies only to goods notified by the Central Government upon the recommendations of the GST Council.

Q39. What are the condition for a supply to be treated as deemed exports?

Ans. Following are the conditions to be satisfied before a supply could be treated as deemed exports;

1. The Supply must be a supply of goods.
2. The goods so supplied must be notified by the Central Government, upon the recommendations of the GST Council
3. The goods must be manufactured in India

Q40. Is there any condition that consideration must be received in foreign currency for deemed export goods?

Ans. There is no condition that consideration for goods notified as deemed exports must be received in convertible foreign exchange. The consideration may be received in Indian Rupees also.

Q41. Whether imported goods, supplied 'as such' qualify for deemed exports?

Ans. Only goods manufactured in India, which are notified by Central Government qualify to be treated as deemed exports. Thus goods notified u/s 147, if imported do not qualify as deemed exports, if they are supplied 'as such'.

Q42. Whether goods notified u/s 147, if manufactured in India from imported goods qualify for the benefit of deemed exports?

Ans. Provisions of S.147 applies to 'goods manufactured in India'. There is no restriction that raw materials required for manufacture of notified goods must also be manufactured in India. Hence notified goods, if manufactured from imported goods would qualify as deemed exports.

Q43. What could be the possible supplies, which could be notified as deemed exports?

Ans. The Central Government has not yet notified goods, which are to be treated as deemed exports. However supplies of goods listed under Chapter 7 of Foreign Trade Policy 2015-2020 are most likely candidates to be notified as deemed exports u/s 147, since the Foreign Trade policy laid down by Ministry of Commerce u/s 5 of Foreign Trade (Development & Regulation Act), 1992, is implemented by the Ministry of Finance by way of issuing notifications under fiscal laws (GST law & Customs law), in line with policy framework.

Q44. Is CGST payable on deemed exports?

Ans. Deemed export benefit is intended for goods manufactured in India. At present under Central Excise Act, 1944, both terminal exemption benefit and refund of tax paid by purchaser who has paid excise duty on deemed exports is available.

The modus operandi for deemed export i.e. whether terminal exemption benefit would be available on supply of deemed exports is to be awaited. However exemptions are seen as anti-thesis under GST law, since it would break the credit chain, it is expected that GST paid to supplier on deemed exports would be eligible as refund in the hands of the recipients.

The aforesaid line of thought is fortified by S. 54 of CGST act, which deals with refunds. Refunds for the purpose of S.54 has been defined under explanation 1 to S.54 (14). Refund thereunder includes 'refund of tax on supply of goods regarded as deemed exports'. Thus it may be safely assumed that GST would be payable on deemed exports but the tax paid on supply of such deemed exports would be eligible as refund in the hands of the recipient who has paid such GST.

Q45. What does S.148 empower the Central Government to do?

Ans. As evident from the above, the list of persons who are required to provide information returns are 'depositories' of information. The list of persons include persons who are either statutory authorities or persons who have information about the transactions entered into by the public at large. The linking of the information provided by the aforesaid authorities with the returns uploaded by various persons under GST law (be it on the output side/ input side/ tax deduction at source/ collection at source/ avilment and distribution of credit) would help detect:

1. Leakage of tax revenue
2. Suppression of value of taxable supplies
3. Mis-Statement of the transaction details (eg. Taxable supply mis-stated as non-taxable supply)
4. Coherency in the information supplied to GST and to various other departments

(eg. Sales information uploaded under GST can be compared with sales information uploaded/ provided to income tax)

5. Synergy in action of the direct, indirect and enforcement departments of the Central Government.
6. Reconciliation of tax data with specific sectors in the economy (eg. Growth in GST paid under construction sector would have a proportional increase in income tax of iron and steel sectors, cement industries, builders and developers etc.)
7. To check the validity of information uploaded under GST (eg. RBI data/ bank data of actual foreign inward remittance and value of service claimed as export)

The above example is only illustrative and not exhaustive.

Q53. What is the time limit, form and manner to file information return?

Ans. The time, form and manner and the authority to which the information return has to be filed is yet to be prescribed by the Central Government.

Q54. What is the consequence, if the information returns is not filed in the form and manner prescribed by the Central Government?

Ans. The consequence is that the Commissioner or Officer authorised by commissioner would consider the information return submitted 'defective' and intimate the defect to the person who has furnished such information return and give him an opportunity to 'rectify' the defect within a period of thirty days from the date of such intimation or within such further period which, on an application made in this behalf.

Q55. What if the defect is not rectified within the prescribed period/ further period?

Ans. The Commissioner or Officer authorised by commissioner, notwithstanding anything contained in any other provisions of CGST Act, would treat that 'no information' has been furnished by the required person. The provisions of the Act for non-furnishing the information would apply to such person.

Ans. The words used in S.150 is 'such person shall furnish the information return'. Since the intent of the provision is to procure information, the words 'shall' be read as mandatory obligation of such person. Hence the person to whom show cause notice is issued shall have to compulsorily provide information to the GST officer.

Q58. Can the GST officer levy penalty on a person, who has not furnished information return? If so, is there any maximum limit for such penalty?

Ans. As per S.123, if a person who is required to furnish an information return u/s 150 fails to do so within the period specified in the show cause notice, the proper officer may direct that such person shall be liable to pay a penalty of one hundred rupees for each day of the period during which the failure to furnish such return continues. However the maximum penalty that can be imposed is Rs.5,000/-.
